very important case is now under ar-ent before the Georgia Supreme Court. It is for the ridow and other beins of a fir, Da-deceased, late of Ogiethorpe county, Ga, the control of the country, I and the sectors is an effort to set saide vill, and involves property to the amount of that there hundred thousand dubte.

Nor will any fair-minded man deny that the whole power of the dominant party at Washington has been used to support the hories of pillagers whose rapecity has drawn equally from their ignorance of the conventional types of corruption and from an abnormal state of victousness. Yet we find intelligent journals—such, for instance, as the Cincinnati Guecte—upholding and defending all the brutal excesses of its faction, and even making South Carolina an illustration and argument in favor of similar outrages upon all of the States of the South.

oline an illustration and argument in favor of similar outrages upon all of the States of the South.

The scene of these Southern disorders is, unhapply, remote from many of the States, where they are viewed as by a telescope, the magnifying end of which is turned upon one party, whilst the other perty, if observed at all, appears only is that end of the glass which is known to produce the opposite effect. By this optical illusion a Kuklux becomes a sort of glassic or dragon, whilst the Radical incendiary is reduced into the proportions of a harmless dwarf, who is not big enough to hurt anybody, and scarcely big enough to be seen. Nor is this the worst of it. The traveling machine known as the Kuklux Committes—a mere peripatetic and temporary apparatus of bustle and terror—is meant to bring about nothing but the confusion and dread, the moil and fear, which it does create—chiefly, be it said, to its infamy—in the North, not in the South, where at a pretended that it is designed to operate, and all by just such appliances as have made the name of True Oarra, during two centuries, a synonym for the mane of Jupas Iscarior.

It is not worth one's while to debate such a question as this, and inyective confesses inclip powerley to de nav sustice.

It is not worth one's while to debate such a question as this, and invective confesses itself poweries to do any justice to the offenders. The purpose of the President is obvious to any one who is not willfully blind. He is simply trying the strength of the rope Congress has provided him to bridte all the people of all the States. The hemp has shown itself strong enough so far; and, as for the man, he has given us no reason to distrust his insensitiven us no reason to distrust his insensitiven. bility to all the emotions of public integ-rity and personal honor. It is his fixed intention never to be taken out of that White House except upon a stretcher, and that is precisely what it will come to.

It is but just, after having presented the necessities for electoral reform and the difficulties to be overcome, that we should mention some of the plans which have been proposed as a cure for the evils of the pretent system of elections.

The pioneer in the movement, or at less the one whose voice first met with any degree of public attention, was Mr. Tronas Hars, an English lawyer, who, soon after the general election of 1837, published a pamphlet entitled "The Machinery of Representation," and who has since published a more elaborate treatise on the same subject. called "The Election of Representatives, Parliamentary and Municipal," which has been republished in this country. Mr. Hank's writings have attracted a great deal of attention, and enlisted the sympathies and the services of John Stuart Mill and other well-known publicists of Europe, and also some in this country. The plans which have been advocated as of any other; no candidate has more votes are counted for him than the quota, and so, no votes are wasted; and each voter is sure thathis vote will be counted for him than the quota, and so, no votes are wasted; and each voter is sure thathis vote will be counted for and help to elect some candidate for whom he has a voter is allowed to vote only for some number of candidates less than the whole number of representatives which his district is entitled to elect—for instance, for only two candidates where three representatives are to be elected.

Second—The cumulative vote, by which each voter may cast as many votes as there are representatives to be elected from his district, and may cast one for each candidate, or all for one candidate, or may divide them in any other proportion among the candidates as he chooses.

Third—The free-list system, under which each party nominates a list of candidates, and no votes are counted except for one of these regular ticets, the number of representatives being selected from those tickets, beginning at the head of each. For instance, suppose in a given district ten representatives being selected from those tickets, beginning at the head of each. For instance, suppose in a given district ten representatives being selected from those tickets, beginning at the head of each, For instance, suppose in a given district ten representatives being selected from those tickets, beginning at the head of each, For instance, suppose in a given district ten representatives being selected from those tickets, beginning at the head of each, For instance, suppose in a given district ten representatives are to be elected, then the Democratid party nominates a ticket of ten candidates, placing them on the ticket in the order of their preference, and to vote are counted except for the each candidate, or all for one of the each candidate, or all for one candidate, or all f "Bradley, colored drayman, the only one of his rese who had the backbons to vote the Benorestic ticket, is having a unit subscribed for him, by solid Benorestic greateness, for baring a day solid Benorestic greateness, for the Benorestic greateness, for baring a day solid Benorestic greateness, for the Benorestic greaten proposes. The protopolic proposed in this that the quotient, found by lividing the whole number of electrons votes by the whole number of representations. where they be scattered over the whole district or State in which the election is held, can agree on any one man to represent them, they are antitled to his presence in the Legislature, and ought to be allowed to commission him for that purpose. For example, if Kentucky has 210,000 voters, and her Senate consists of 38 members and her House of Representatives of 100 members, then every 5,326 voters are entitled to one Senator, and each 2,100 voters to one Representative; and, under the plan proposed, any 5,536 voters, trespective of their place of residence, uniting upon any one man, irrespective of his place of residence, would be entitled to have him returned as their Senator; and any 2,100, uniting upon one man, would be entitled to return him as their Representative in the House.

House.

It is readily seen how much more complete representation would be if such a plan could be put into successful practice. Take a county with a voting population of 14,728. This county would be entitled to seven representatives. Suppose then that of the 14,728 votes, 8,"14 belong to the majority, and 6,014 to the minority. Suppose too that, as would be most likely the case, the majority and minority were about evenly distributed among the seven districts into which the county under the present aystem is divided. In this case the majority of 8,414 voters would cleet all the seven representatives, while the minority, who mimber three-fourths as many as the majority, would be wholly unrepresented, or rather misrepresented, that is practically disfranchised. But under Mr. Harris system the majority could not elect more than four times the quota necessary to elect one; and the minority would elect the other three. The majority could not elect more than four times the quota necessary to elect one; and the minority, if vigilant, must elect three full constituencies.

The plan proposed to accomplish this resu't is for each voter to vote on one ticket for as many persons as he chooses, numbering the names from one on, in It is readily seen how much more con ticket for as many persons as he chooses, numbering the names from one on, in order of his preference. Then each can-didate for whom the quota of "first choice" votes has been cast, is at once returned as elected. If no one candidate has a quota of "first choice" votes, the one receiving the smallest number of such votes will be red as rejected, his name dropped from the tickets, and the "second choice" of the tickets where his name appeared "first" will be redistributed among the remaining candidates, and so on, until some one or more shall have reon, until some one or more shall have re-ceived the full quota requisite for election, who shall then be declared elected. If any receive more "first choice" votes than are required to fill his quota, those last-cast, and not required, shall be distributed among the remaining candidates, acco-ing to the second choice on the tickets so distributed, and so on, until the whole number of representatives is effected.

distributed, and so on, until the whose number of representatives is effected. In this way no regular system of party nomination is required, and so we avoid the necessity of one of the greatest sources nomination the necessity of one of the greates, some of evil, corruption and injustice attendant upon the present system; no vote is counted for more than one candidate, and so,

The Toston Post mentions it a something strange "that a St. Louis man killed his wife because she took fifteen cents from his pocket." Cas the editor of the Post lay his hand upon his heart and say that he would permit his wife, or even his mother in law, to take fifteen cents out of his pocket and escape that vengeance blood alone can quell?

For The Rochester Union says: "Ten years ago President Graner was a bank-rupt. Now he is a n illonaire. How did he make his money?" Why, he made it through the exercise of a geat philanthropy—that is to say, by bestowing kind offices upon such charitable grinders as Boars, Rousson and Mungery.

GRAPT was kissed by no less than thirty-seven girls. It is a most remarkable fact that, in almost every New England town of the disc of Benger, you, cas, always manage to scare up about that number of girls who don't care who the dickens they less.

An exchange tells us that "Warden VILLARD'S morrument was erected just as is murderer Wilson was hanged." That i to say, Willard's monument and mur-pression remains on the minus of the people shat they are actually guitly. It is, therefore, clearly a matter of question whether the harm does not surpass the good.

The origin and design of these placards demand the gravest inquiry. To pass them over as mere coullitions of ignorance, which cease to do will after a bull supervenes, it is operative political quackery, of which are some day be the victims of the common district the observed, those of a popular commontion, and placards against foreigners have been known are since the old flong days of Canton. What distinguishes the present movement is the extent of territory over which it prevails, and the homogeneity of pain indicates extraordinary facilities for attaining a common understanding and concert of action.

Two theories are advanced to explain the movement. By some it is regarded as part of a plan to overthrow the Tartar dynasty, by embroiling them with foreigners. And it is by no messas an ill-chosen agency for that purpose, as I shall point out hereafter. By others it is looked upon as a most ingenious device of the mandarius to implain a deeper sislike of the foreigner in the minuse of the common people, and there is an ahundance of testimony in keyor of this opinion. The manipulations of Chinese State-crait have a special cust for the present time. The trestice are to be revised, and the Inland residence question to be discussed.

Mysterious Shooting Affair.

Yesterday morning, as Mr. Henry Carr, of Henryville, Henry county, was returning from a fox-hant with a party of six gentlemen of his neighborhood, a dispute sprang up as to who first started the fox. The contention grew into a quarrel, and in the made which followed a gun was discharged and the builet entered Mr. Carr's right breast, passing through the lungs and coming out at the back. Dr. H. H. Ferguson, of Henryville, was promptly commoned and extraged the ball, but at last accounts the sufferer was in a dying condition. Who fired the gun, or whether it was accidentally discharged, are questions which no one appears to be able to answer satisfactorily. An investigation will probably follow which will clear up the mystery.

one. We don't dare to say that there were any patent calves, or palpitators, or—ahem!—any similar portions of the mysterious parspheralis of feminies art belonging to any member of the troupe; but if there had been, they would probably have been in those trunks, and it would have been perfectly awful to have been compelled to essay the task of captivating the captious public without them. But woman's wit and woman's will were never yet long at a loss for a way out of almost any difficulty.

While the innocent and unruspecting sheriff was ledicitating himself upon having the attached property safely andse lock and key, some one entered the room with easiler key, and, it is alliged, abstracted the contents of the trunks, removing them to some place where they could be made available for use in the performance last night. This breach of the law's dignity could not long remain undiscovered, and yesterday morning Mrs. Mullsly and Miss Taylor, a member of the Weber troupe, were arrested on a charge of folony in having perpetrated the robberty. They were taken before Eaquires Stephens and Miller and held in bonds of $200 each to appear for trial today, Mr. Barton, of the United States Hotel, becoming their surety. LIMBERGER CHEESE.

Three Children Poisoned by Enting it—A Warning to German Parents. About twolve o'clock yesterday, two small children of Mr. Charley Koch, a boy and girt, on Green street, between Gampbell and Wenzel, suddenly became vary sielt, Dr. F. C. Lieber va-immediately called in, and while he was examin-ing the children snother child, a boy six years toms indicated that they were possesses, and the colucidence of their attacks coming in the same way at the same hour comfirmed the belief before the true nature of the case could be ascertained by investigation.

The parents could not, for a long time, imagine how they could have been poisoned, until finally they remembered that Limberger cheese was one of the articles of food used at breakfast, about 8 o'clock, and that these children had eaten some of it. Limberger cheese it well known as a favorite article of food among the German people, and it was hard to believe that it could have been the cause of the trouble. Besides, the parents had partacken of the same cheese, and were not affected. But upon examining the cheese it was found by Dr. Leber that it contained poison, which was eaused by the wrapper in which it is prepared for the market.

The Limberger cheese is put up in cakes, covered with a lead-foll wrapper. The lead-foll is in itself poisonous, but us it is used only for a wrapper it is harmless unless it comes in contact with a liquid which will act upon it as a dissolvent, in which case the liquid becomes poisonous by taking up the lead. The decomposition of this cheese had produced a very strong seld, which came in contact with the poisonous wrapper and them approach throughout the cheese, thus poisoning the whole cake.

Troper mediciness were administered, and the children were soom in a convalenced condition.

Captain Metcalfe, of the boat, sympathising with him in his sufferings, gave him a bottle of Wintersmith's Tonic Sirup, or Improved Chill Cure. The captain mays he never travels without it. Read what Mr. Rizson says in regard to it: Shoat. Cherk, Johnson Co., Ank., Cherk, Wes. Metcalfe.

Chills and Fever—The Reasons of th Superiority of Wintersmith's Toni and Chill Cure Over Quinme an Other Remedies.

In this disease there is always more or less de rangement of the liver, and often of the digest reorgans. The remedies usually given hav reference only to preventing the paroxyam o breaking the chill, without regard to the cendition the system may be left in after the chill have been removed; whereas the mere breaking of the chill; is but a small part of what is required to perfect a radical cure. The variou organs of the body, more especially the liver and the stomach, must be brought into a health condition, otherwise a return of the chill will be the probable result. The true reason, therefore why the relapses of chills and fever are so frequent is because they have never been more dann half cured. That is, the course which first produced the disease have never been removed. The proper use of Wintersmith's Tomic never falls it cure the most obstinate case of fever and ague For sale by all druggiets. one there is always more or les In this dis
